Mwah! It's a beaut book

She has more make-up than she knows what to do with, dates the best-looking boy in rugby league and has just finished her first book.

Life is sweet for beauty queen Zoe Foster.

Drawing on her experiences as former beauty director for Harper's Bazaar, Foster has penned an insider's tale.

Air Kisses follows the spoilt and privileged life of a beauty mag hag in a Devil-Wears-Prada-style expose.

"We lead a spoilt and privileged life," Foster said.

"Fashion has been written about, but no one has done beauty. I have a lot anecdotes."

These include long lunches, trips to the "goo room" (code for the treebie closet) and plenty of fashion angst.

Her main character is unlucky in love with a big media personality, but Foster emphasises he is not based on boyfriend Craig Wing.

"We were not together when I was writing the book."

Air Kisses is now in stores.
